Available today in your library!

Go figure! New perspectives on Guston

From Publishers Weekly: “This handsome new volume reinvigorates the debate around Philip Guston (1913–1980), a painter who shifted from abstract expressionism to representational art in the 1960s. Guston spent several formative years at the American Academy in Rome, and this book, copublished by the American Academy, examines Guston’s fascination with Italian art and his continuing influence on Italian aesthetics...A serious consideration of an often paradoxical painter, this collection contributes significantly to Guston’s enduring legacy.”

The SAGE encyclopedia of intercultural competence

From Barnes and Noble: “Cultural competence refers to the set of attitudes, practices, and policies that enables a person or agency to work well with people from differing cultural groups. Other related terms include cultural sensitivity, transcultural skills, diversity competence, and multicultural expertise. What defines a culture? What barriers might block successful communication between individuals or agencies of differing cultures? How can those barriers be understood and navigated to enhance intercultural communication and understanding? These questions and more are explained within the pages of this new reference work.”

Jim Crow: a historical encyclopedia of the American mosaic

From Library Journal: “Edited by Brown (history, Univ. of New Orleans; The Jim Crow Encyclopedia) and Stentiford (military history, U.S. Army’s Sch. of Advanced Military Studies, Fort Leavenworth), this work begins with an informative overview of Jim Crow—the system of laws discriminating against black citizens in the southern United States after Reconstruction—that includes basic concepts and definitions...Although the inclusion of more primary documents would enhance the presentation, the encyclopedia works well not only as an introduction to Jim Crow but also as a solid source for research on the subject.”
Vaccination controversies

From Barnes and Noble: “Vaccination Controversies: A Reference Handbook overviews the scientific basis for and history of immunization as a method for protecting individuals against disease, along with a review of the social, political, and economic issues related to the use of immunization in both human and animal populations. The book debunks prevalent public health myths by clearly outlining the scientific consensus behind modern immunization regimes. Also included are profiles of important individuals and organizations within the history of vaccination, a chronology of important events, as well as pertinent reports, laws, and court decisions that give the reader a greater appreciation of the issues surrounding vaccination.”

Fracking

From Barnes and Noble: “This book examines fracking from all angles, addressing the promise of the United States becoming energy independent through the use of the process to tap the massive amounts of natural gas and oil available as well as the host of problems associated with fracking—groundwater contamination and increased seismic activity, just to mention two—that raise questions about the long-term feasibility of the process as a source of natural gas.”

Digest

2015 Pulitzer Prize Winner for Poetry

From Barnes and Noble:"From Epicurus to Sam Cooke, the Daily News to Roots, Digest draws from the present and the past to form an intellectual, American identity. In poems that forge their own styles and strategies, we experience dialogues between the written word and other art forms. Within this dialogue we hear Ben Jonson, we meet police K-9s, and we find children negotiating a sense of the world through a father’s eyes and through their own.”

Pornography and the criminal justice system

From Barnes and Noble: “This volume assembles hundreds of cases and studies to provide the most accurate and comprehensive picture of the status of pornography in the criminal justice system. Presenting high-level research in an accessible and organized manner, it explores a range of topics, including investigating and prosecuting a case, arguments favoring and opposing decriminalization of pornography, and relationships between pornography, mental disorders, and crime. It also examines criminal justice responses and international laws, policies, attitudes, and definitions of pornography in comparison to those of the United States.”

The Libertarian reader

From Barnes and Noble: “An important collection of seminal writings on a movement that is rapidly changing the face of American politics, The Libertarian Reader links some of the most fertile minds of our time to a centuries-old commitment to freedom, self-determination, and opposition to intrusive government. This is the first comprehensive anthology of libertarian thought—from the Bible and Lao-Tzu to Hayek and Milton Friedman—to be published in one volume. The 68 selections from great libertarian writers are an intellectual feast, covering such key libertarian themes as skepticism about power, individual rights, spontaneous order, free markets, and peace”

London Fields

From Publishers Weekly: “In this very British tale, femme fatale Nicola Six manipulates racist, sexist scoundrel Keith Talent and well-mannered, naive Guy Clinch as an omniscient narrator/novelist spies on the trio in order to develop his book. "Relentlessly bitter, often brutally funny, hypnotically readable, it may also be quite opaque in places to an American readership."
Second childhood

From Publishers Weekly: “Recipient of the 2009 Ruth Lilly Poetry Prize for lifetime achievement, Howe (Come and See) is masterfully lyrical in her newest collection, one marbled throughout with musings over identity. Howe navigates between indeterminate and shifting speakers and addressees with a wide array of tools, like obfuscating shadows, contradictions, and a precious, serene delicacy that channels a childlike marvel, contenting the speaker to present images without interrogation...Howe may occupy some familiar and traditional poetic spaces, but she populates them beautifully.”

Mind maps for medical students

From Barnes and Noble: “This brand new revision aid has been designed specifically to help medical students memorize essential clinical facts, invaluable throughout medical studies and particularly useful in the pressured run-up to final exams. Over 100 maps are organized by body system, with a concluding section of miscellaneous examples.”

Citizen: an American lyric

From Publishers Weekly: “In this trenchant new work about racism in the 21st century, Rankine, recently appointed chancellor of the American Academy of Poets and winner of the 2014 Jackson Poetry Prize, extends the innovative formal techniques and painfully clear-sighted vision she established in her landmark Don’t Let Me Be Lonely. Accounts of racially charged interactions, insidious and flagrant, transpiring in private and in the public eye, distill the immediate emotional intensity of individual experience with tremendous precision while allowing ambiguity, ambivalence, contradiction, and exhaustion to remain in all their fraught complexity. Combining poetry, essay, and images from media and contemporary art, Rankine’s poetics capture the urgency of her subject matter.”
Christine Kocourek
Library Services Assistant-Advanced
University of Wisconsin-Manitowoc
705 Viebahn St.
Manitowoc, WI 54220
920-683-4715
http://manitowoc.uwc.edu/library/