Geol: instructor edition

From Barnes and Noble: “...This streamlined yet comprehensive text focuses on the core concepts of physical geology, including strong coverage of systems and plate tectonics, while also devoting three chapters to historical geology to give students a complete overview of all facets of introductory geology. This reader-friendly, visually striking text brings geology to life even for non-science majors, providing the knowledge and understanding they need to build on their natural curiosity about the landscapes around them, as well as the environmental and resource issues they encounter in the news.”

Worlds of Arthur: facts & fiction of the Dark Ages

From Barnes and Noble: “As this challenging new look at the Arthur legend makes clear, all books claiming to reveal "the truth" behind King Arthur can safely be ignored. Not only the fanciful pseudo-historical accounts—Merlin the Magician, the Lady in the Lake—but even the "historical" Arthur is largely a figment of the imagination. The evidence that we have, whether written or archeological, is simply incapable of telling us anything detailed about the Britain in which he is supposed to have lived, fought, and died.”

The Blackwell guide to ethical theory

From Barnes and Noble: “Ranging from moral realism to virtue ethics, this new volume presents a thorough survey of ethical theory. "Written by an international assembly of leading moral philosophers, twenty-one newly commissioned papers develop the themes, discuss the problems, and evaluate the arguments of the main normative and meta-ethical philosophical outlooks.”

Philosophy of education

From Barnes and Noble: “Philosophy of Education introduces students to the evolution of educational thought, from the founding fathers to contemporary theorists, with consideration of both analytic and continental traditions. This is an essential text not only for teachers and future teachers, but also for anyone needing a survey of contemporary trends in philosophy of education.”
The worlds of medieval Europe

From Barnes and Noble: “Deftly written and beautifully illustrated, The Worlds of Medieval Europe, Third Edition, presents a distinctive and nuanced portrayal of the Greater West during its medieval millennium. By integrating the histories of the Islamic and Byzantine worlds into the main narrative, author Clifford R. Backman offers an insightful, detailed, and often witty look at the continuum of interaction—social, cultural, intellectual, and commercial—that existed among all three societies.”

Plato: a guide for the perplexed

From Barnes and Noble: “Plato: A Guide for the Perplexed is a clear and thorough account of Plato's philosophy, his major works and ideas, providing an ideal guide to the important and complex thought of this key philosopher. The book offers a detailed review of all the major dialogues and explores the particular perplexities of the dialogue form. Geared towards the specific requirements of students who need to reach a sound understanding of Plato's thought, the book also provides a cogent and reliable survey of the whole history of Platonic interpretation and his far-reaching influence.”

Queen of the Milky Way
A collection of poetry by Emilie Lindemann. Lindemann is a English professor at Silver Lake College.

Dancing Girl Press Review: “Emilie Lindemann’s Queen of the Milky Way fractures E.T. by imagining an extraterrestrial who is decidedly female. And Lindemann literally fractures E.T. — the chapbook is an erasure of a children’s book version from 1982...The language is tactile, and the narrative is poignant and weird...”
